For the sake of doing well on exams, Hibiki and friends have started commuting to prep school. Over there, they run into Kousuke's former girl friend, Tachibana Harumi, thereby facilitating her reunion with Kousuke. As a result, the atmosphere between Kousuke and Nakajima sensei becomes tense— Indifferent to the concerns of the protective Hibiki, she runs to Kousuke in a desperation to be saved.

♥ "There's a disparity between how you hear your voice and how it's perceived by other people, isn't there? Like, it gets distorted when it's played on the answering machine and stuff. Friends often tell me that my voice is "higher-pitched than they expected." My voice sounds relatively sweeter than I think it is, so it's embarrassing," so said Kawahara Kazuno-sensei.

44 "The Story Up Until Now" 55

Haleli, a third year in high school, is actually going out with her homeroom teacher, Ito-sensei, in secret. While being watched over by good friends Chirchan and Kousuke, she has more or less come to ride the turbulent waves of romance. In the midst of all that, Haleli and co continue to prep school, and over there, get to know a charming girl named Hatsuura. It turns out that Hatsuura is Kousuke's former girlfriend, who's still pulled along by feelings for him. To top things off, she goes as far as visiting him at school, and stirs up a big commotion, all naturally before Nakajima-sensei's very eyes! The Nakajima-sensei that strives to force Kousuke (?) criticize his usual air of non-chalance and, unable to endure her unrelent aggression, clings to him.!!

Capital attraction.
This is Kurokawa's

The other day as I was walking, I drew out a lot of my head. For a moment, I wondered if "a friend" had approached me, but turns out that it was a crowd. Several years ago, a crowd that happened to my other sister with a crowd (maybe on her head at that time). I thought "wow so interesting but this do exist, huh," until it happened to me. It was when I told that story to a friend and her sister who was driving recklessly over the side and a crowd of people. And a year later, she experienced the same thing too.
